What we can do

All stakeholders face many challenges in managing the cash cycle. Branches of the Federal Bank being shut down, the compulsory electronic order of coins and notes, deposits and pay-outs (CashEDI), new regulations regarding coin and note processing, insurance regulations, the ongoing cross-linking and constant cost pressures are only a few examples.

We accept the challenge and think outside of the box.

Our software development and project management processes guarantee the highest standard of quality in our solutions:

- ALVARA Interactive Cash Control
  - The cash control platform & app
- ALVARA Main Cash Station Software
  - The solution for financial institutions
- ALVARA Cash Center Software
  - The solution for financial service providers and cash-in-transit companies
- ALVARA Cash Software
  - The solution for retailers
- ALVARA Change Exchange
  - The trade platform for coins
- ALVARA Logistic App

Our clients save time and money, thereby optimizing their revenues while improving the quality of services for their own customers. This is how our software solutions, which are compliant with audit and insurance-related requirements, secure major competitive advantages. The risk in processing is minimized by the high level of automation and new business fields and synergies are developing in the cooperation between financial institutions, retailers and cash-in-transit companies.

How we do it

We take on board your ideas, suggestions and challenges from conferences such as the CashCon and workshops, e.g. BargeldDialog, which take place on a regular basis. We then flexibly tailor our ALVARA solutions to the respective requirements for holistic cash processing. The projects begin with competent consulting, an exact analysis of the initial situation and a definition of goals. To define the goals, we review the processes and identify potential. This optimization is the foundation for the right strategy and a solution tailored the client's needs.

Together with the client, we plan, implement and introduce the new products.

"Innovation is the key to our company's success. Process automation and digital cash management in particular take center stage when it comes to convincing our clients of our strengths.
