From September 20 to 23:

Security Essen Gathers International Security Sector at Messe Essen

Leading trade fair on civil security gives a comprehensive market overview

Security is a booming topic. The German market alone spent over 24 billion Euros in 2021, up by almost 7,5 percent on the previous year, an excellent omen for Security Essen which is on show at the Essen Trade Fair from September 20 to 23, 2022. The focus at the trade fair will be on an exchange of views on innovations and current industry topics such as cyber security, access solutions, protecting highly sensitive areas or the next generation of skilled staff. A comprehensive overview of the market in Halls 5, 6, 7 and 8 will await industry visitors from around the world. The exhibition areas are structured according to the market, and comprise 'Services', 'Access, mechatronics, mechanical and systems', 'Perimeters', 'Video', 'Fire, intrusion and systems' and 'Digital Networking Security'.

From the global player to the start-up business – Security Essen offers a platform for exhibitors from 36 countries. Beside industry leaders such as Honeywell, Salto Systems, Telenot Electronic, dormakaba EAD, PCS Systemtechnik, Rohde & Schwarz, Deutsche Telekom Security, Dahua Technology, Genetec, NSC Sicherheitstechnik, ABUS, Carrier Fire & Security, Wagner Deutschland, Hikvision Deutschland, Advancis Software & Services and Stölting Security & Service, the trade fair offers a high-caliber marketplace for start-ups. Young German businesses plus international start-ups – including Safe2home, Security Robotics Development & Solutions, Nubicon, Connecting Media and Minova Technology – will be on show in dedicated areas in Hall 5. Their products range from dog-design radio alarm systems with mobile eyes, through security robots, access control systems and IT security solutions to innovative pepper spray with a smart alarm function and safe-deposit furniture in elegant wooden designs.

Concentrated Expertise

For over 40 years now Security Essen has been the leading trade show for civil security and a major venue for sharing knowledge. The 2022 fair will offer a high-quality and cutting-edge framework program: The Security Experts Forum, Digital

Welcome to Security Essen

Security Essen counts important decision-makers and high-ranking politicians among its guests. These will include Herbert Reul, the Interior Minister of North Rhine-Westphalia, who will be visiting the fair on its second day. And on September 20 a delegation of United Nations (UN) buyers will be coming to Essen to learn about new products. Representatives will present the UN's procurement department in a seminar on 'How to do business with the UN'. An international delegation comprising 30 members of the European DIY Retail Association (EDRA) and Global Home Improvement Network (GHIN) will also be visiting Security Essen on September 22. Delegations from German states have also registered their visits. Special themed days such as the Education and Training Day, the BeNeLux Day and Authorities Day will also inspire visitor networking.
