New Security Exhibition

The Security Event – Powered by Security Essen Invites Security Industry to Birmingham

Visitor Registration Now Open

The Security Event - powered by Security Essen arrives at the National Exhibition Centre (NEC) in Birmingham, UK from 9 to 11 April 2019. This major new security exhibition features around 100 of the world's leading security brands. Visitors can now register online for the event, organised by Western Business Exhibitions (WBE). Cooperation partner is Messe Essen (Germany), organiser of the leading trade fair for civil security Security Essen.

The British market is one of the most important markets for the security industry worldwide. The Security Event, powered by Security Essen aims to deliver a world-class exhibition dedicated to UK security professionals, installers and integrators.

The Security Event has been developed with support from ten of the industry's major players and tailored to precisely meet the needs of the security industry. Numerous key companies from the international security industry will be on site – including Anixter, ASSA ABLOY, Avigilon, Comelit, Dahua, Honeywell, TDSi, Texcom, Tyco, Videcon and many more. Visitors can obtain their free event ticket now from <http://www.thesecurityevent.co.uk>

Comprehensive programme with informative parallel events

Under the motto 'Designed by the industry, for the industry' - The Security Event will offer a tailor-made education programme, alongside unrivalled networking opportunities for security professionals. Challenges and opportunities within the sector will be discussed by leading security experts as well as showcasing the latest innovations on the market.

The Security Event will take place parallel to three already well-established successful WBE exhibitions. These are The Health & Safety Event, The Fire Safety Event, also powered by Security Essen and The Facilities Event. This setup will
